

The Gow School is pleased to announce a
Symposium featuring
Dr. Guinevere Eden, Ph.D.

“Educational Neuroscience: How Brain Imaging Studies Can Shed Light On Reading Differences”

WHEN: Friday, October 9th from 1:00-3:30 p.m.

WHERE: The Gow School, 2491 Emery Road, South Wales

COST: $25 per person

Advance reservations are required. For more information, call The Gow Development Office at 716-687-2075 or visit Gow's website at www.gow.org

Dr. Eden currently:

- serves as President of The International Dyslexia Association;
- is a member of both Georgetown's Pediatrics and Psychology faculties;
- is Director of Center for the Study of Learning at Georgetown University and Scientific Co-Director of the Learning Center for Visual Language and Learning at Gallaudet University;
- is a world renowned speaker on reading, learning differences and the brain;
- has published over 50 articles and a book related to dyslexia research.

To find out more about Dr. Eden and her research, visit

<http://www.interdys.org/BOD.htm>

THE GOW SCHOOL

Thanks to our sponsors for helping to make this event possible!

